LINDBERGH GIVES FUELLESS MOTOR A THOROUGH TEST

Invention Has Been Carefully Guarded by The Authorities

WON'T CONFIRM REPORT

Motor Is the Invention of A Pennsylvania Man

DETROIT, Feb. 25 (INS)—Prospect of revolutionizing air, land and sea transportation with a fuelless motor based on the principle of electric magnetism as applied to the rotary motion of the earth was seen today following Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's reported test of a motor of this type at Selfridge Field yesterday.

Lindbergh and Major Thomas G. Lanphier are reported to be preparing to hop off this morning for Mitchell Field where they will discuss the invention with representatives of the Guggenheim Foundation.

Mrs. Lindbergh, mother of the famous flyer also is to start this morning on her flight to Boston where she will be honored by an educational society.

The motor invention has been carefully veiled. The report from Selfridge Field today was that it had been tested yesterday with Colonel Lindbergh and Major Lanphier in attendance. Neither Lindbergh nor Lanphier confirmed the report.

Announcement such a motor had been actually tested was a complete surprise, knowledge of the existence of two-foot model of the motor has been current for some time. Its inventor is Lester J. Hendershot, of Pittsburgh, a free-lance experimenter in motive power. His backer at Selfridge Field in conversations with army engineers is D. Barr Peat, also of Pittsburgh, manager of the Bettis Field Airport there.

Hendershot is credited with several successful electrical inventions, two of which he has sold to the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company.

He exhibited his model several weeks ago to friends. A layman pronounced it:

"Something like an earth induction motor and the nearest thing to perpetual motion. It's sort of a magnet arrangement which in general way would pull on the rear of an airplane and make it fly. It is supposed to run on an electromagnetic principle applied to the rotation of the earth on its axis."

Exhibiting New Model Of Nursery Piano Here

Frank Pfeifer, the local dealer in musical instruments, is exhibiting in one of the display windows of Spencer's furniture store, Mill & Radcliffe street, a Lixie model of a nursery piano. The instrument is the very latest development in piano making and is done in red and gold.

Mr. Pfeifer will exhibit for the second time at the annual health show held in Trenton Armory. He will have on display a large selection of piano, and also several of the nursery models.

Legion Cadets To Collect Old Newspapers in Box Car

The 40 'n' 8 Society has generously offered the use of its box-car for the American Legion Cadets of Bristol to collect old newspapers on Saturday afternoons hereafter. This afternoon collection will be made in the Sixth Ward; and on March 3rd and 10th, visits will be made in homes in the fourth and third wards respectively to secure papers. Anyone having large supplies of old papers which they wish to dispose of immediately may have same removed for the use of the cadets by phoning 302-J.

AMBLER TOO STRONG FOR HIGH SCHOOL FIVE

Local Quintette Loses to The Visitors by Score of 30 to 26

RALLY CAME TOO LATE

By T. M. Juno
Bristol High lost the fifth game of the season here last night to Ambler, 30 to 26.

The game was a real see-saw affair with good shots on the part of both teams featuring. Ambler won the game in the last quarter when Brister and Moore scored two field goals apiece. Bristol staged a last-ditch rally which netted four points but it was too late.

Brister, again ran wild, against the local team, scoring a total of 17 points. Brister was the star of that last quarter rally which clinched the game for the Orange and Black team.

Moore, Brister's side mate, showed great guns for Ambler, hitting the net for six two pointers.

Berry played a fine defensive game for Ambler.

Strumfels was high scorer for the Cardinal and Gray with 10 points.

Captain Opydke regained his eye last night and hit the cords for three field goals.

De Risi played his usual steady game besides scoring twice from the floor. "Mike" was put out late in the third quarter via the personal foul route.

Bristol takes a rest until next Friday when Bordentown comes here.

In a preliminary class game the 12-B Class lost to the 11-B class by the score of 13-9. Fuoco and Shields were the stars.

Upper Darby Adopts Part-Paid Fire Department

Advocates of a paid fire department and supporters of the present volunteer system in Upper Darby township have reached a tentative compromise which recognizes the necessity of at least two paid firemen in each company.

The compromise was reached at a meeting in the township hall which was attended by representatives of the five volunteer companies in the township and addressed by Thomas F. Dwyer, a representative of the Philadelphia Underwriters' Association.

Dwyer, who suggested that a paid volunteer fire department would reduce the fire hazards in the township and decrease the insurance rates, was supported by Clarence C. Fox, former president of the Delaware County Real Estate Board. Members of the township fire committee and David Wolfendon, a manufacturer, of Cardington, and member of the volunteer fire company there, opposed Dwyer's suggestion but admitted the necessity of placing the volunteer companies on a part paid plan.

On February 14th a delegation of representative citizens of Upper Darby visited Bristol and inspected the method employed here in centralizing borough activities.

Mrs. Bertha Bessonett Dies At Her Home Here

On Thursday Mrs. Bertha Bessonett, wife of the late Henry Bessonett, of 218 Washington street, died. Mrs. Bessonett had been ill for a long time.

The Rev. Howard L. Zepp, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will conduct the funeral service on Monday at 2 p. m. from the late residence of the deceased. Burial will be made in Bristol Cemetery, and friends may call Sunday evening.

Echoes of the Past

History of Town Council of the Borough of Bristol from Time of Incorporation to the Present.
By Doron Green
INTRODUCTORY

ALTHOUGH the Borough received its Charter in 1720, its records now extant, begin with the year 1730. The official acts of the town-fathers reflect much that is of interest in connection with village politics in the early history of the borough. The ferry, encroachments upon the streets, and local nuisances were the most fruitful sources of legislation. Public morals were jealously guarded. In 1769 when it appeared that crowds were accustomed to collect at the Bath Springs on Sunday and became disorderly, an ordinance was passed forbidding anyone to loiter in that vicinity; and in the following year the custom of collecting on the street corners was severely censured. It was disorder incident to the fairs that resulted in their discontinuance. The penalty for Sabbath breaking was confinement in the workhouse five days at hard labor upon an allowance of bread and water. Election days were sometimes disorderly, and that this might not occur, the council decreed in 1751 that the polls should open at 1 o'clock in the afternoon and close precisely at 6 in the evening.

THE VILLAGE FATHERS

THE unbroken chain of friendship and confidence which was maintained, ever bright and untarnished, between the colonists and the Indians, under the system of mutual concessions adopted by William Penn, afforded perhaps greater satisfaction and security from assault, on the part of the settlers here. And on this account, it may be fairly surmised, it was in some measure that lands in this immediate neighborhood, comprised within the tract then called Buckingham (Bristol), commanded the first attention of the early settlers. Besides, especially those imbued with the religious sentiments of the Friends, cherished an inward desire to locate themselves in a near proximity to the favorite spot chosen as the manner of their good and great patriarch and founder. As a result, the members of the Society of Friends who settled in this vicinity, represented the very highest and best type of citizenship implanted in the Pennsylvania colony, and there was none who surpassed in the elements of good citizenship, those brave and sturdy pioneers of the Society of Friends, who comprised the early settlers in the town of Bristol.

In the Borough charter the name of Joseph Bond and John Hall appear as the Chief Burgess and the Second Burgess. Chief Burgess Bond was a leading citizen, a man of ability and integrity, who commanded the respect and confidence of his fellow citizens. As an evidence of this, we have only to point to his election for several successive years, as the Bucks County representative to the Assembly in the Provincial Government. It was probably due to his ability, and qualifications for leadership, evidenced in the Provincial Assembly, that influenced his appointment as the first Chief Burgess.

John Hall, the Second Burgess, was also a prominent citizen. He was a man of social attainments, and his home on Mill street was the social center for the elite of the new borough and the surrounding country. Burgess Hall married as his first wife, Rebecca Radcliffe, who was a member of the socially prominent Bucks County family by that name. He also served several terms as Chief Burgess.

Dr. John Abram De Normandie, one of the early Councilmen, was a man of extraordinary ability and influence. He was the descendant of a distinguished Huguenot family in France, which fled to America to escape persecution. He is supposed to have been the first regular physician who settled in Bucks County. He was a member of the established church (Episcopalian) and was one of the early founders of the St. James's Protestant Episcopal Church of Bristol.

TUBERCULOSIS SOCIETY GIVES A FINE REPORT

Quarterly Meeting Takes Place at the County Seat

CHILDREN EXAMINED

DOYLESTOWN, Feb. 25.—The quarterly meeting of the Bucks County Tuberculosis Society was held here Thursday when Field Secretary H. W. Grahm read his report as follows: "In the district made up of Warrington, Warmminster, Warwick, Buckingham, Solebury, New Britain, Plumstead, Bedminster, Tinticum, Nockamixon, Durham, Chalfont and Bridgeton, about 2500 children were weighed and measured. Over 1200 were found who weighed only one pound from normal weight, 700 only a few pounds underweight and about 500 ten per cent underweight. These children had all been weighed previously and showed material gains all along the line. Advice was given how to gain in weight. The 10 percent underweights were advised to have three monthly weighings and, if not improved in that time, were advised to consult the family doctor.

"Visits were made to the Bensalem and Bristol township and Hulmeville schools, and also parochial schools at County Line and Cornwells Heights. A spirit of hearty co-operation was everywhere evident, especially among the children.

"Scales were presented to the Warmminster consolidated school of five rooms, Reverse school of four rooms, Hulmeville school of four rooms, and the Bensalem township schools. St. Charles Parochial School also ordered a scale. Chalfont was given 5000 individual weight cards were given to children.

Eight hundred children are doing the Modern Health Crusade Chores. Many are observing the health rules without using the records. We have strong proof of the value of this work begun several years ago.

Four clinics were held by Dr. Brown, medical secretary of the Pennsylvania Tuberculosis Society, when 42 persons were examined and 129 defects found. The family doctor of those examined was notified of the defects and the patients advised to have their doctor correct them.

HISTORICAL PROGRAM IS GIVEN AT TRAVEL CLUB

"Romance of the Delaware" Subject of Discourse By Mrs. Metzger

MRS. BUCKMAN SPEAKS

A most fascinating program of local history, entitled "The Romance of the Delaware" was arranged by Mrs. Emil Metzger and given before the Travel Club yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Thomas Scott.

In addition to Mrs. Metzger's delightful description of the beauty, geography and history of the stream, Mrs. William G. Buckman read a paper on William Penn and his connection with the Delaware; Mrs. Horace Burton told of Philadelphia's relation to the river; Mrs. C. Miller, of Lambertville, gave an account of the history of Coryell Ferry, now Lambertville; Mrs. Bradley Ardrey, a native of Trenton, told of the founding of Trenton; Mrs. Griffith Williams spoke of Benjamin Franklin and his entrance to Philadelphia by way of the Delaware.

Mrs. David Taylor gave a most vivid picture of Washington crossing the Delaware; Mrs. Asa Fabian told of Stephen Girard's fortune made through shipping; Miss M. J. Haines spoke of John Fitch and his steamboat; Mrs. William Doran gave many interesting facts in regard to ferries, and Miss Susan Iredell described Bristol's relation to the Delaware.

Mrs. Henry Hartman had prepared a paper on bridges and there was appropriate music. At the conclusion of the afternoon Mrs. Emlen Martin spoke of the Indian relics found on Burlington Island. The location of William Penn's famous Pennsylvania House in Penn's Manor was discussed, and it was mentioned with regret that no historical society or public spirited person has ever seen fit to mark this famous historical site.

P. R. R. TO CLOSE YARDS AT MORRISVILLE SOON

Much of the Activity There Is To Be Transferred To Marietta

WILL AFFECT MANY

The Morrisville yards of the Pennsylvania Railroad are to be closed in the near future, it is said. The closing of the yards is due to a rearrangement of the P. R. R. freight service through Eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

For many years Morrisville has been a great transfer and switching point for the Pennsylvania's freight business. It was in Morrisville that most of the freight cars coming from the west were reassembled into new trains bound for Trenton and the points east, including New York city and New England.

By the new arrangement these trains are made up at Marietta, Pa. From that point they travel intact through North Philadelphia, Trenton and Newark to Jersey City. It is in the Jersey City yards that such re-routing of cars as may be necessary for New York, North Jersey and New England is attended to.

Until about a week ago the Morrisville yards were the main distributing point between the east and the west. Now this work is being done at Marietta.

The name of Marietta is probably unfamiliar to most of the people of Pennsylvania. The town is located along the Susquehanna about half way between Lancaster and Harrisburg. For many months the Pennsylvania has been developing its yards at that point. Also it has been increasing the capacity of its yards on the outskirts of Jersey City. With the practical completion of these two great assembling and distributing yards, other so-called "hump" yards like that at Morrisville and other points along this 150-mile stretch of roadway, are being abandoned.

It has been a common rumor for some time among the Pennsylvania freight handling employees that "the hump yards must go." The changes made last week are the first to seriously affect the Trenton division.

The employees immediately affected have been notified that they may retain positions similar to those now held, but to do so will necessitate their removal either to Jersey City or Marietta. They are not to lose their seniority rights, except in so far as their new jobs might affect those now employed in the two greater yards.

As a consequence, numerous families in Trenton and Morrisville are confronted with the necessity of moving, or seeking other employment.

Johnny Straffe Wins From Ted Lenihan

(By T. M. Juno)

Johnny ("Kid") Straffe, Bristol's Italian fighting "sheik," added "Ted" Lenihan to his string of victories last night when he put the Philadelphia boy away in the third round.

The Cambria A. C. was packed to the doors when Straffe made his first appearance in a Philadelphia ring, in the first round Lenihan became his longer reach managed to get a slight edge on the local boy. In the second round Straffe, beginning to get on to the Philadelphia's best flyweight's ways, landed many effective punches which stung Lenihan.

In the third round the Bristol lad came out of his corner and catching Lenihan on the cheek with a hard right, sent him down for the full count of ten. Lenihan fell flat on his face and it was five minutes before he came to.

Straffe's records show today eighteen straight wins, eleven by a knockout and seven by decisions. Straffe also holds the record for the world's quickest knockout, which was equalled only by Wyoming Warner. This knockout came within sixteen seconds of fighting.

Pat Moran, the new manager of the St. Ann's boy, appeared well satisfied with the showing of his new protegee, and states that he will match the local boy with some of the best 120-pounders in the country.

OCCUPATION TAX CLASSIFIED BY COMMISSIONERS

Old $200 Valuation To Give Way To New System

ANNOUNCE SCHEDULE

Valuations Range from $50 For Invalids to $1,000 for Bank Presidents

The value of occupations for tax purposes has been increased by the Commissioners of Bucks County and the new values will be put into effect by assessors of the various districts throughout the county, when they make their assessments for the taxes due this year.

Under the revised plans of the Commissioners, the assessors must designate the occupations of the various taxables in their respective districts and the amount of the personal tax will be computed upon the valuation for that particular occupation.

According to the Commissioners a majority of the 67 counties in the State already have this plan of valuing occupations in force and so by adopting it, Bucks County is not establishing anything new. It is done as a means of placing the tax burden more equitably and in proportion to one's earning power.

No change has been made in the valuations of the occupation of housewives. The Commissioners reason that the ordinary unskilled laboring man should not pay as much as a professional man or one whose occupation is valued at perhaps two or three times as much more, therefore they have worked out a graduated scale of occupation valuations.

If a taxable owns property, the amount of his personal tax will be added to his property tax and the amount of his total assessment will be the sum of the assessed value of his property plus the valuation placed upon his personal occupation.

The Commissioners have adopted the following as a schedule of valuations for occupations:

$1000 Class—Bank Presidents, Public Service Corporation Presidents.

$800 Class—Auto Dealers, Judges of Courts, Lawyers, Manufacturers, Wholesale Merchants, Millers, Physicians, Proprietors of Department Stores.

$700 Class—Moving Picture Theatre Proprietors, Osteopaths.

Wealth In Waste

General Lord, director of the budget, is jubilant when some department or bureau in Washington saves a few thousands of dollars by such scrutinizing economy as leaving the decorative blue stripe out of the canvas used for mail bags, or by using second-hand paper clips. The catchpenny economists of the budget bureau have saved the taxpayers some thousands of dollars, sometimes resorting to ingenious devices, but they can still learn something in this direction from big business.

When the mah jong fad took the country by storm the packing companies made a few extra millions profit by sending the shin bones of butchered cattle to China to be converted into mah jong "tiles."

It has been said of one of the packing concerns that it used everything from the pig but the squeal. The slogan applies equally well to the cow. A Chicago concern that kills about 2,000,000 cattle each year has each gall bladder searched for gall stones. They are used as charms in the Orient and are ground for a medicinal preparation in this country.

In his economy campaign President Coolidge should have handed out a few dollar-a-year jobs to the by-product inventors for the meat packers. The most cautious would risk a large wager they would find ways and means of cutting down government expenses. They, at least, would not begin their work by seeking new jobs to be filled. Much public money would be saved if politicians and officeholders were not concerned with saving jobs for other politicians.

Receding Birth Rate

Records over a long period of time show that the birth rate of the United States has been falling rapidly while the marriage rate has increased from 8.7 per thousand of population to 10.2 at the present. The birth rate dropped from 40 per thousand of population in 1880 to 21 in 1927.

The marriage rate here is higher than any European country for a number of reasons but chiefly because of the more favorable economic conditions. But, high as these living standards are, economic conditions here are unfavorable for large families among certain classes of Americans.

The birth rate over the country as a whole would be still lower if it were not for the large foreign population and the large numbers of illiterate Americans among whom the birth rate runs higher than the average for all classes. Were it not for these elements, the national birth rate unquestionably would be the lowest in the world. As it is, all signs point to the population becoming stationary within a few years.

This news comes as a surprise to the public which, conscious of the great territorial extent and the unparalleled prosperity of the country, has assumed that the population has continued to keep pace with other phases of national development.

One compensating factor is a death rate that has been receding faster than the birth rate. There is no immediate danger of race suicide, and this country is in a position different from such nations as France where the death rate is still disproportionately high.

Echoes of the Past

History of Town Council of the Borough of Bristol from Time of Incorporation to the Present.

Council, and also Town Treasurer, was a thrifty cooper and baker and a leader in Falls Meeting. It is related of him, that while the owner of a house situated on Radcliffe street, above Penn, he found a pot of gold buried in the cellar, and after that rapidly grew wealthy. It was to this same house that Lafayette was taken after being wounded at the battle of Brandywine.

The name of William Buckley also appears among the early fathers. He was the progenitor of the Buckley family, whose descendants were prominent in Bristol at the beginning of the last century, and two of whose members, the daughters of Phineas Buckley, were responsible for the starting of the first Sunday School in Bristol in 1811. Buckley street bears the name of this family.

William Atkinson, another member of the borough family of that early period, was affiliated with the group of families that dominated the local government of Colonial Bucks County. He was Coroner of Bucks County for nine years, and served one year as County Commissioner. For eleven years, until his death, he was Collector of Excise, or what would be called today, Collector of Internal Revenue. He was undoubtedly the most prominent and influential citizen of Bristol and Bucks County, in his day.

Coming down the years to 1748, there appears the name of Alexander Graydon, a very prominent citizen of that day. In 1756 he wrote the history of Bristol, in which he stated that Mill was the only street marked by a continuity of buildings. A few other streets were opened from the main one, on which here and there stood an humble dwelling. At a remote spot stood a small Episcopal Church, "whose lonely graveyard with its surrounding woody scenery, might have furnished an appropriate theme for such a muse as Gray's." At the time of which Graydon wrote, all the in-

Why This Four IS TRUTHFULLY CALLED AMERICA'S Finest

No car in the price class of Dodge Brothers Four is so ROOMY. No car in this price class is so SWIFT. No car in this price class is so STURDY. No car in this price class is so SMART.

No car in this price class accelerates from 0 to 25 miles IN 7 SECONDS.

No car in this price class is so COMFORTABLE—for none has so long a springbase.

These are FACTS—readily verified—and they explain the immense popularity of Dodge Brothers Four.

No car at near its price offers so many advantages that Americans value foremost.

And no car at ANY price affords its owner, in greater measure, the satisfaction of knowing that for every dollar invested he has received a full dollar's return in honest value.

Echoes of the Past

habitants of Bristol were Friends, with the exception of the De Normandies and two or three other families. When the Revolutionary War broke out, Graydon espoused the cause of the Colonies, and was appointed a Captain in Colonel John Shee's Pennsylvania Regiment, in January, 1776.

In 1762 is listed among the members of the Borough Government, the name of Dr. William McIlvaine. His father sent him to Edinburgh, Scotland, to complete his education in medicine. He returned to Bristol and was distinguished for his talents, integrity and zeal. The McIlvaines were among the earliest settlers in Bristol, and was a family of wealth and influence.

Space will only permit a reference to others whose names are worthy of mention. Before the close of the first century after the incorporation of the borough, such names as Gosline, Hutchinson, Stackhouse, Bessonett, Allen, Kinsey, Clunn, appear upon the records, all of whom were the progenitors of families, whose descendants have been identified with the later development of the town. Thus it can be seen, that from its earliest days, down to the present time, the affairs of the borough have rested in the hands of worthy and loyal citizens. Men of culture, refinement, business ability and financial standing, have always been found, who were willing to give of their time and talents, for the maintenance and development, of this little Quaker settlement which they called home.

bowling will be held in Pittsburgh, April 9 to 21.

The events will be under the auspices of the American Duckpin Congress, governing body of "little pin" bowling. The organization is similar to the American Bowling Congress, which controls ten-pin tournaments.

Men's and ladies' events in the singles, doubles and quintets are the classifications for entry. Medals and prize money offer incentive for high scores and a lure to attract the bowlers' entrance into the tourney. The entry fee has been listed at $2 for each bowler in an event. Entry lists will close on March 24.

LEBANON, Pa., Feb. 25 (INS)—A University Club, which is expected to attract membership from all parts of South Central Pennsylvania has been organized at Annville, with a charter membership of thirty persons.
